

The Ice Cream Combinations Problem

An ice cream shop offers customers the choice of a cup or a cone. It offers a choice of three different flavors: chocolate, vanilla, or strawberry. It also offers three different toppings: sprinkles, nuts, or hot fudge.

How many different combinations result from choosing a cone or a cup, one kind of ice cream, and one topping?

Please show how you got your answer.